Greeting to the women assembled in Convention at Carnegie Hall from the Women's Social & Political Union. Glad congratulations on the great victory recently achieved by the State of California, and heartfelt wishes for the speedy enfranchisement of American womanhood.

"Liberty does not fail those who are determined to have it". That was the watchword of Garibaldi who set his will to the accomplishment of freeing Italy.

Abstract truth becomes a living power only when it is wedded to human purpose, human will and human action. Liberty as an intellectual ideal is not potent to triumph over the sinister forces of tyranny allied to human prejudice and vested interests, but when the intellectual ideal of liberty is allied to an ardent enthusiasm which is prepared for every kind of sacrifice; to a determined purpose, which is daunted by no opposition; and to resolute action, then and only then the triumph of liberty is certain and her victory secure.
